Mauricio Lynn, MD - Associate Professor of Surgery Trauma, University of Miami Ryder Trauma Center; Ret. Lieutenant Colonel, Israeli Defense Force

Dr. Mauricio Lynn is a Trauma Surgeon at Ryder Trauma Center University of Miami and the head of Mass Casualty Preparedness & Response at University of Miami, Jackson Memorial Medical Center. Dr. Lynn is a retired Lieutenant Colonel from the Israeli Defense Forces where he served for 18 yrs. He was Flight Surgeon with the Israeli Air Force Special Forces Medical Commander of the Air Rescue and Medical Evacuation Unit & Head of Trauma for the Military. He was in charge of policy making for field trauma care field management of MCI's for the military and advisor for the Israeli EMS for urban MCI's. He served as advisor for the Israeli Health Ministry on Trauma & Hospital Preparedness for MCI's and in charge of hospital preparedness education/training together with the Health Ministry for all hospitals in Israel. Dr. Lynn presents the Israeli approach to Mass Casualties in a US context. Having been on the scene of some of the world's worst tragedies (Earthquake in Turkey, US Embassy bombings, Airplane crashes and more) Dr. Lynn applies lessons learned from the Israeli experience to better prepare hospitals to respond to MCI's.

Bruce McFarlane, Sr. - Deputy Director of the National Organization on Disability, Emergency Preparedness Initiative

Mr. Bruce McFarlane is a graduate of the Rochester Institute of Technology and retired from the U.S. Department of Agriculture after 32-years of distinguished service. From 2000-2008, McFarlane was the Director of the USDA TARGET Center in Washington, D.C., the largest disability employment resource & assistive technology demonstration center in the federal sector. In 2009 he was named the Acting Director of the National Organization on Disability's Emergency Preparedness Initiative. During his career at USDA, McFarlane was the special needs advisor to the Incident Commander for the USDA Emergency Response Team based in Washington, D.C. He served as the USDA representative on 3-subcommittees responding to President Bush's Executive Order 13347 (2004) which established the Interagency Coordinating Council on emergency preparedness for people with disabilities. McFarlane was selected to be a member of the Special Needs Working Group involved in the 2006-Nationwide Plan Review and the 2007 NRP/NIMS Review conducted by DHS. Upon retirement, McFarlane worked as Program Manager of the Special Needs Advisory Team for "The Road Home Program" for Katrina evacuees until August 2008. Mr. McFarlane was the recipient of the Department of Homeland Security 2006 Achievement Award for extraordinary contributions to the DHS Nationwide Plan Review as a Disability Subject Matter Expert Reviewer.

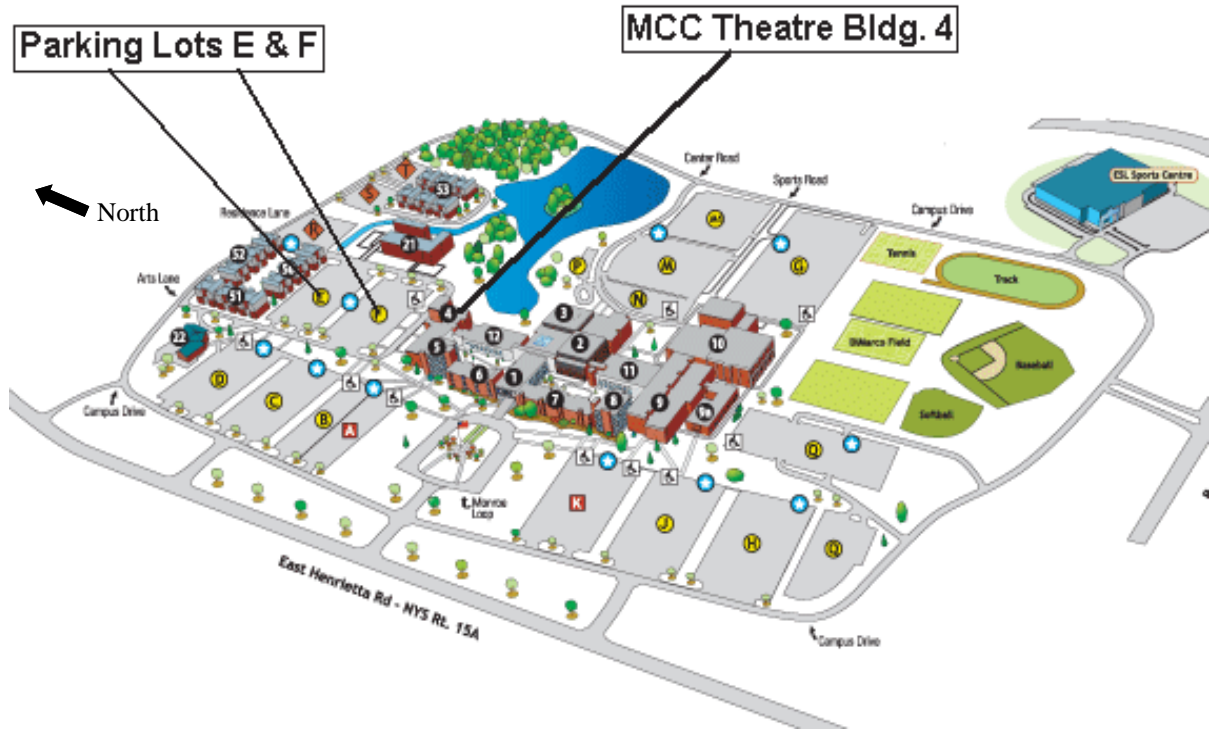

Sandra Schneider, MD, FACEP - Professor of Emergency Medicine, University of Rochester Medical Center; President, American College of Emergency Physicians

Dr. Schneider attended medical school and trained in Internal Medicine at the University of Pittsburgh. She spent 3 years in the Public Health Service National Health Service Corps in Hazard, KY practicing both Internal Medicine (IM) and Emergency Medicine (EM). She is Board Certified in EM and IM. She then returned to Pittsburgh as Director of the Emergency Room at Montefiore Hospital. In 1993 she was recruited to the University of Rochester as the inaugural Chair of EM. At Rochester, she created the Department of EM where she established a residency program and built a nationally recognized research program in emergency medicine. Dr. Schneider has been a leader of nearly every organization in the field of EM. She helped to organize the National Association of EMS Physicians and served on their Board of Directors as the Editor of their Database Project for several years. She served as Chair of the Association of Academic Chairs of Emergency Medicine, President of the Society for Academic Emergency Medicine, Chair of the Emergency Medicine Foundation, and Chair of the Residency Review Committee for Emergency Medicine. She is currently President Elect of the American College of Emergency Physicians. Dr. Schneider is a nationally recognized teacher in EM. In her career she has trained over 300 emergency residents, published over 65 peer reviewed articles & 45 book chapters. She has won several awards including Teacher of the Year from the American Association of Women Emergency Physicians and the Susan B. Anthony Award for Leadership.
